

Jason and Max picked next Friday to carry out their special mission. Friday was a week away. They (had) so many things to accomplish. In (order) to reach their final goal, the (boys) made a plan for each day (of) the week. They had to work (hard) every day to finish each task. (Could) they do it all?

On Monday, (they) agreed to meet and put plan (A) into action. Plan A was to (gather) as many fallen branches as they (could) carry. They hauled the wood from (the) edge of the cornfield and stacked (it) in a big pile at the (edge) of the forest.

On Tuesday, the (boys) met near the lazy creek and (put) plan B into motion. They dug (up) rocks the size of footballs from (the) creek's bottom. By dusk, they had (arranged) the rocks in a neat circle (next) to the pile of branches they (had) hauled the night before.

On Wednesday, (plan) C was to climb into the (attic) above Jason's garage. They searched around (with) flashlights and both found backpacks. They (wore) their packs as they rode their (bikes) to the edge of the forest (to) complete the day's work.

On Thursday (it) rained. They had to drop the (plan) for the day. Still, Jason and (Max) met at the end of their (driveways) under umbrellas. They quietly spoke. They (decided) their mission would work without plan (D).

When the sun went down on (Friday), they met at the edge of (the) forest. There sat their tent. They'd (set) it up on Wednesday evening. The (wood) was ready to go into their (campfire) ring. Their next step was to (build) a warm fire.

The mission to (camp) out was complete. The only tasks (now) were to sit back and enjoy (the) fruits of their labor.
